

Getting your vehicle certified as self-contained

To be certified as self-contained to freedom camp in New Zealand, vehicles must meet new requirements in the Plumbers, Gasfitters, and Drainlayers \(Self-Contained Vehicles\) Regulations 2023.

This infographic depicts a basic summary of the regulations' requirements for vehicles to be certified as self-contained.

For more detail, please speak with your local Certification Authority – find one at www.nzscv.co.nz or more information about the requirements at www.pgdb.co.nz.

Each of these facilities must be able to be used for at least three days for the maximum number of people the vehicle is certified for. Facilities must be fit for purpose and properly installed.

For any questions about how these requirements apply to your SCV, find your nearest Certification Authority at www.nzscv.co.nz
